The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over James, Teeuwen et al, Thon, and Birch et al in view of Lorenzo et al (EP 0787745) for the reasons set forth in rejecting the claims in the last Office action (Paper No. 3).

Applicant's arguments filed July 30, 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the prior art does not teach inulin at an amount of at least about 25 percent by weight of a combination of sweetening agent or agents.

The prior art clearly teaches the combination of inulin and other sweeteners as is claimed. The burden rests on the Applicant to provide a showing of unexpected results. In the absence of a showing of criticality, the amounts employed are seen to be no more than a matter of choice and well-within the skill of the art. At most the amounts selected are no more than optimization, see In re Boesch 205 USPQ 215.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, the choice of sweetener is seen as no more than a matter of choice and well-within the skill of the art. Polyols, monosaccharides, and disaccharides are notoriously well-known in the food art and Applicant is using these components for no more than their art-recognized function.

Art Unit: 1761

In the absence of unexpected results, it is not seen how the claimed invention differs from the teachings of the prior art. Applicant's claims are drawn to a combination of known components which produces expected results, see In re Kerkhoven 205 USPQ 1069 and In re Gershon 152 USPQ 602.

All of the claim limitations and arguments have been considered. None of them are seen as serving as basis for patentability.

No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a).

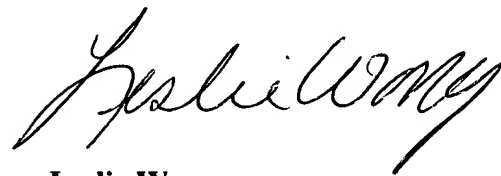

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR RESPONSE TO THIS FINAL ACTION IS SET TO EXPIRE THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THIS ACTION. IN THE EVENT A FIRST RESPONSE IS FILED WITHIN TWO MONTHS OF THE MAILING DATE OF THIS FINAL ACTION AND THE ADVISORY ACTION IS NOT MAILED UNTIL AFTER THE END OF THE THREE-MONTH SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD, THEN THE SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD WILL EXPIRE ON THE DATE THE ADVISORY ACTION IS MAILED, AND ANY EXTENSION FEE PURSUANT TO 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a) WILL BE CALCULATED FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THE ADVISORY ACTION. IN NO EVENT WILL THE STATUTORY PERIOD FOR RESPONSE EXPIRE LATER THAN SIX MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THIS FINAL ACTION.
